

Basic Detail Report

Jeunes imprudens qui se laissent emporter par le point d'honneur et qui narguent les arrêts de la Cour de Cassation. [Rash young students who are fighting over a point of honor and who snap their fingers at the supreme court.] from the series Professeurs et Moutards [Teachers and Students], number 9, published in Le Charivari

Date

published December 30, 1845

Primary Maker

Honoré Daumier

Medium

Lithograph on newsprint

Description

A group of rowdy school boys are crowding around two boys that are fighting. One pulls the other's hair as the other grabs him by the ear. An older man looks at them sternly from the edge of the group. There are trees behind the boys on the left side of the print and a building behind them on the right.

Dimensions

Image Size: 10 x 11 3/4 inches Object Size: 11 x 15 inches